THE CHRISTMAS STORM. TERRIBLE RAINS AND BIG LOSSES. The Worst Night Within the Memory of Cincinnati's Oldest Inhabitant-Property Damaged and

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26. -The severest storm ever known in the history of this city started in with snow at six A. M. Saturday and continued falling unabated until four Sunday morning, covering the ground to the depth of two feet. Several hours later a heavy rain set in, which has continued incessantly with no sign of abatement. Over five inches of rain have fallen, and this large amount of water, together with the two feet of snow that is fast letting go under the rising temperature and warm rain, has placed the streets in an indescribable and impassable condition. In many of the streets the sewers are stopped up causing the water to accumulate to the depth of several feet or more, flooding cellars and in many low spots even covering ground flours of residences and business houses. Street car and other travel is generally suspended, liverymen refusing at even enormous figures to allow their horses and vehicles to go out. Telegraph and telephonic communication is badly interrupted in all directions, this, with other complications, making it impossible to gather a complete report of the actual damage being done. The gravest fears are entertained of a most destructive flood all along the Ohio Valley. Steamboatmen, are busy moving their steamers and barges to places of safety and merchants along the river are greatly alarmed on account of reports received from the Licking and other streams above and below, showing them to be rising very rapidly and throwing out immense volumes of water. Should this prove true, as well as the reports from head waters of a heavy rise, there remains no doubt that the towns and cities along the Ohio will towns and cittes along the Ohio will receive a revisitation of the great flood of February last which caused untold loss and suffering. Trains on all the roads are arriving from four to ten hours late in consequence of the snow and rain storm, but no accidents have as yet been reported. The engineers on all outgoing trains have been contioned to look out for bridge and other property. out for bridges and other dangerous spots where wash-outs are liable to occur. Reports from Newport, Ky., opposite this city, on the banks of the Licking, say several small bridges are washed away. Besides the extreme darkness prevailing Sunday night, a very heavy fog also settled down over the city, making it impossible to see objects more than ten feet distant.

No less than thirty persons have been reported more or less injured in the past twenty-four hours by falls received while walking on the slippery pavement and sidewalk. Performances at the different theaters, which are usually crowded Sun-day nights, were abandoned, and no persons ventured out of doors that were not compelled to do so to fulfill their business vocation. Reports received from points along the Ohio Valley, in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, as well as Ohio and Indiana, as well as many places in the interior of Ohio, state that the storm is prevailing there with more or less severity during the past ferty-eight hours, and that great damage has been done. At midnight the falling in of the roofs of the Public Library, and

How the Furnace Was Prepared and the Process of the Operation. LONDON, Dec. 26.—The first full Masonic funeral ceremony that has occurred in England for nearly a century took place at Manston, near Stourminster Newton, Dorset, last week, when the remains of the late Captain Hanham were deposited in the family mausoleum to await the cremation he himself in his will provided for. The invocations were read and addresses delivered by Provincial Grand Master Montague Guest, M. P. There was a very large at-tendance of Masons and the public generally, seemented have manyer th

The body was cremated at Manston, in the furnace, or "cremator," built closely to the deceased's house, on the banks of the river Stour, partially from the designs of Coptain Hankam, in whose lifetime the building was commenced. When the late Mrs. Hankam, the wife of the deceased, was cremated, more than a year ago, a great deal of iron was used in the furnace, but, on account of the warping and partial fusion on tha occasion, metal was in the present proceedings only employed where absolutely nec essary. The masoney of the furnace is very solid, the exterior being of common brick, and all the parts exposed to the flames being of fire-brick. The place in which the coffin was deposited was some four or five feet from the base of the brickwork, and in the clear was seven feet long by two feet six inches wide. The coffin rested on fire-brickwork are inches.

although the fire could play all round the coffin, not a particle of the ashes or other burnt remains of the body could escape. The height of the recess containing the coffin was two feet three inches from the arched roof to the bars before mentioned, and in the roof were three apertures, having a chamber from which the smoke escaped in a low, square chimney. There were four peep-holes ranged at intervals round the recess, so that the medical men could, when necessary, watch the process. The brickwork at the back of the recess was twenty-two inches thick, and in the Front fourteen inches. A short distance above and below the costin-chamber the brickwork was strengthened by thick an-gle-shaped iron. There were three fire oxes a short distance from the ground, the ash-pans of which were level with the

The coffin, which had been placed in the mauscleum near the house with Masonic eremonies during the afternoon, was removed to the "cremator" soon after 7 clock in the evening; and, having been placed in position under the directions of Dr. Comyns Leach, the front of the chamer was closed with thick fire-brick slabs or doors, which, together with the peop-notes before mentioned, were made air-tight with mortar. Everything having been got ready, the lies were lighted at exactly twenty minutes o eight, in the presence of Mr. J. C. S. Hanheur, Dr. Comyns Leach, of Stourminster Newton; M. Montague Guest, Member opposite Gelsel's grocery, apl7dly MAYSVILLE, KY. of Parliment; Co. J. C. Hambro, Mr. Benactt Stanford, Dr. C. Parkinson, of Wimorne, Dr. Tazewell, of Stourminster New-on, M. E. T. Budden, of Wimborne, and a lew privileged friends of the deceased. The lense volume of smoke which followed the mmediate flames from the top of the could be seen for a considerable distance. The flames, however, at no time reached a very great height owing to excellent ar-rangements made for internal combustion. The best Forest of Dean coal was used, and and in a very short time the thick fireprick slabs in front of the coffin-chamber were red hot. At twenty minutes to ten the peep-holes besore referred to were spened alternately by Dr. Comyns Leach, who pronunced cremation even then have been to all practical ourposes completed Nothing of the offin remained excepting the handles and screws and small pieces of white-hot the peep-holes were accordingly reclosed. The fires still burned with unabated vigor, out the brickwork was so sound that but ittle of the heat was felt under the awning by which it was covered. So far the pro-ceedings had been perfectly successful. Not the least offensive smell could be deected, and so far as sanitation was conerned, nothing further could be desired The fires were kept up till nearly 11 rclock, by which time the cremation may be said to have been completed, and that very successfully. PACIFIC COAST'S MUD. The Bad Mess of Letters Published by the San Francisco Chronicle. San Francisco, Dec. 26.—Had Stanford, Huntington and Mr. Crocker known of the existence of letters written by Huntington existence of letters written by Huntington to Colten, during the period from 1874 to 1879, it is likely that they would have compromised with Mrs. Colten rather than have their alleged corrupt practices exposed, risking Congressional investigation. The Chronicle will publish the entire series of letters, numbering about three hundred, and covering three pages of the paper The correspondence exposes the fact that for years the Central Pacific has been engaged in systematically debauching Senators and Representatives, has purchased Legislatures, newspapers, and Associated Press agents; that it has presented fraudulent reports, declared dividends with borrowed money, gobbled up steamship and railroad lines. and all sorts of wickedness. The letter are nearly a complete history of the infam-ous lobbying which degraded the country while the Texas Pacific bill to guarantee the interest of the bonds of the road was before Congress, showing conclusively that the methods adopted by Scott were fully as corrupt as Huntington's. The small estimation which Huntington entertained for prominent politicians, in or out of Congress, is justified from the fact that he was enabled to bring a large number over to List of the Chairmen and Members of his side by, or, as he terms it, "Succeeded the Leading Committees" in convincing them." Huntington speaks Senator Conover, of Houden, as a man who can be convinced, and afterward alludes to him contemptuously as not worth spending money on. Senator Gorden, of Georgia, who posed as Southern respectability personified, is al-luded to as the more than eager friend of the Central Pacific and instrumental in getting up an excursion party to visit the Pacific Coast in the interest of the Southern Pacific. Every Southern Congressman opposed to the Texas Pacific had been "convinced" by Huntington, and Gilbert C. Walker, ex-Governor of Virginia and a member of the Military, W. S. Rosecrans, of California; was hired to go through the South, demouncing the Texas Paoific subsidy scheme.

His employers instructed him to carefully conceal the fact that he was working in the interest of the Central Pacific. Huntington was pleased with Gwinn, rebuking him but once when he made a mistake in riding over the ground in the same car with one of his masters, Charles Crocker. There is a professional lobbyist of this Coast, "Billy" Carr. who was on the most friendly terms with Gorham and Sargent. The latter, in re-ferring to Carr as "my personal and po-litical friend, Billy Carr," according to those letters, was in the employ of the

Senator, or, as he is called on this Coast,

Central Pacific. In the letter of December 2, 1875, Hunt ington writes about an interview he had with Sargent and Gorham. Sargent was mildly mad, and Gorham complained that they were treated shamefully, and that Carr had not been paid. Cetton replies by a telegram that Carr had been paid $60,000 in Southern Pacific bonds. and asking how much Carr's services would be worth in the future. Huntington's answer was that it depended upon whether the wanted him in the future, that if Carr could control his friends, such services might b worth $10,000 or $20,000 s year. To Jay Gould he pays the compliment of saying, "I think him the worst man to do anything with al ever-knew loof) and and another fi

BLOOD OF A BROTHER.

AWFUL NEW JERSEY FRATRICIDE. What the Furious Passion of One Moment Did -- Cause of the Deed --The Afflicted Mother's Terrible Grief.

NEWARK N. J., Dec. 26,—At 9:30 o'clock at night, a seventeen-year-old boy rushed into the First Precinct Police Station, and in the wildest excitement exclaimed: "Send for a doctor. I have shot a man." The youth said his name was John

Schneider, and that he had shot his brother, Gustav, at their boarding house, No. 176 Williams street. The brothers boarded with John Schopch and his wife. Gustav, aged twenty, is a blacksmith and John is employed in the Domestic Sewing Machine Factory. The brothers had a quarrel about business matters, and during the war of words, the older called the younger a vile name. John at that time was in an adjoining room; he retorted, and the older brother entered where he was. Gustav raised his fist to strike, when John drew a thirty-two calibre revolver and fired, shooting Gustav through the heart. Mrs. Schopehen entered the room just as the shot was fired. The murderer rushed into the other room pointing the revolver. He was disarmed after a struggle by John Lightenberger, of 308 Plane street, who sat in the outer room at the table in conversation with Mr. Schopehen. The murderer broke loose and proceeded to police headquarters, where he was locked up. Mrs. Thirs, the mother of the Schneiders, was found at the scene of the tragedy. The poor old woman was in terrible agony. She became hysterical, and threw herself upon the bloody corpse and kissed it, hugged it, exclaiming: "Oh, mein Gott, mein Gott; my poor, good boy; I want to die; this is too much to bear.

She took the body in her arms, while the blood flowed from the gaping wound in his breast flowed over her, staining her silvery hair with dark blotches. The mother's lips were even dabbled with blood, as she pressed them again and again to the face of her dead boy, moaning out her agony. The crimson stains grew larger on her breast as she held the dead youth closely to her, rocking him to and fro and calling him tenderly by name. A little pool of sticky, clotted blood formed in her lap, and her fingers, aimlessly wandering about, were closely stuck together with the oozing fluid. The corpse grew cold in her arms, and she begged and pleaded that she be not separated from her "boy." The scene was heartrending. It took two officers to tear her from the murdered boy. Officer Boylan found the revolver concealed under the bed. The Schopchens and John Lightenberger were detained at police headquarters

He lived in Dubuque for the past thirty years, and made his living by peddling

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Assailant's Name: NEW YORK, Dec. 26.-At an early hour Sunday morning screams and cries of mur-der were heard in the apartments of Annie Goldstein, a Polish Jewess, on the second floor of No. 3 Bayard street. A number of the inmates of the house ran to Miss Goldstein assistance and found her lying in a pool of blood in the center of her room. She had a deep gash on the back of her neck and a severe cut on left thigh, from which the blood was streaming. The police were summoned and the wounded woman was removed to the Chambers Street Hospital, where her injuries were pronounced of a serious character. Miss Goldstein is about thirty years of age and has for some time past made her living by telling fortunes. She said that on Sunday evening a man, to whom she was shortly to be married, but whose name she refused to reveal, came to her apartments, broke open her trunk, and; after cutting her with a knife, carried off a gold watch and chain, two gold bracelets, and $100 in money. She gave a description of her assailant to the police of the Tenth Precinct, who are investigating

WHAT WALSH SAYS.

Cynical Views Upon Certain Delicate Subjects.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26. - Mr. John A. Walsh told a reporter that he did not see, if the Government officers were looking for him. why they didn't find him. He had made no attempt to hide. He believed they did not care to have him testify. Kellogg, against whom he would have to give evidence, was, he said, too good a friend of Chandler, and the President was too grateful for Kellogg's support at the Chicago Convention to make the prosecution against him very active. Mr. Walsh went over the history of the Star Route trials, and he claimed to find evidence of apathy on the part of the Government since Garfield's death, and a disposition to convict only small fry and let the big fish escape, while keeping up a great noise to make the people think the thieves were being very hard

DASTARDLY MURDER.

The Cowardly Deed of a Jealous Lover. MOREHOUSE PARISH, La., Dec. 26.-Two men, Rowell and Adams, were rivals for the affections of Ida Lewis, a beautiful octoroon. Saturday Ida went to the cabin of an aged negress to have her fortune told. Rowell had previously bribed the old woman to tell Ida she was destined to marry him, and, if she refused, to induce her to drink a mixture, or love philter which he had prepared. This programme was carried out, and, when the girl objected to marrying Rowell, she was coaxed to drink the preparation. She was seized with convulsions, and died in the most horrible agony. Rowell has fled to the swamp, The negress received a trade dollar for her

By a Firman of the Port the use of this flag was granted to two boats only, but it is now found to be caused by at least forty-five. The trade is carried on mostly by the French. and, the attention of France having bee called to the efforts of the authorities to abridge the privilege, the Marquis de Noailles, the French Ambassador, has threatened, that if any attempt is made by the Porte to interfere, a French fleet wil be sent to Jaffa, Beyroot, and other ports to protect the commercial interest of

MORE ABOUT LATE HICKS PASHA The Army Now Reported to Have Been Much Weakened Prior to the Final Engagement-More War Developments.

CAIRO, December 26.—It now transpires that the army of Hicks Pasha was materially weakened some time before engaging in battle with El Madhi by the defection of Aladeen Pasha, one of the principal officers of the expedition. At Melborn Aladeen refused to accompany Hicks further, giving as his reason the obvious hopelessness of Hicks' success against the growing strength of the False Prophet. Aladem was joined by 1,000 of Hicks' command who shared his views, and Hicks was compelled to proceed without them. It is stated that Aladeen is now kept continuously fighting in order to prevent himself and from becoming prisoners of El Mahdi. CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 25 .- A correspon-

The Sheikh explained that the ruling caste in the holy cities, though they have no great love for the Turks, have no wish to see them replaced as guardians of the shrines of Islam by hordes of savage negroes from the Soudan. The Sheikh concluded the conversation by saying: "Islam has seen full too many false prophets to fear the rise of this one. He is a long way from Hainboat and a wide sea between."

GUNPOWDER AND GLORY The French Aroused By the Recent Fight at Sontay.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The most notable fact in general estimation here in the capture of Sontay, is that it took 4,000 out of the entire 7,000 Frenchmen two days fighting. the loss of 233 men, and the enormous proportion of thirteen officers killed or wounded, to storm even the outworks. A resistance so determined is held, in spite of official denials, to prove the presence of Chi-nese regulars and the probability of a prolonged and perilous campaign. Whether this conflict represents a pause or a starting point in the Franco-China hos tilities is still undetermined. While the Marquis Tseng last Monday declared an attack on Sontay meant war, he was seen on Wednesday evening in the friendliest converse with M. Ferry. The smell of gunpowder has united France behind the Minister. Bishop Treppel, a flerce Ultra-mantane opponent of Ferry and all things Republican, burst upon the opposition of the reactionaries in both Chambers by a ringing speech, while in the Senate, Freycint, Jules Simon, and Victor Hugo supported Ferry, and 3,000 officers and 30,000 soldiers have already volunteered for Ton quin.

The Storm in Illinois. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 26 -The greatest snow storm of the year prevailed over this section yesterday and all night. The snow is twelve inches deep and rain and sleet have formed a hard crust on top. Teams and foot travel is painful. Stock will suffer severely. Passenger trains on the Central, Wabash, Indianapolis, Blooming ton and Western roads are from six to fifteen hours late. Fear is felt of the entire stoppage of trains by sleet,

CORK, Dec. 26.-The bark Helen Finlay son, rescued at sea, from a raft, Captain Bain and five men of the ship Regina, from Philadelphia, November 16, for London, and which went to pieces in a gale December 4. The rescued men were upon the raft five days, during which time they had neither food nor water.

Lawsuits About Bogus Dead Men. CHICAGO, December 26.—The trial is in progress of Dr. Henry Seiger, County hysician, William Guetshow and Henry Driver, all charged with conspiracy to de fraud the Home Life Insurance Company out of $2,500 by palming off bogus dead nen on the company.

The Funeral of Ex-Governor Lowe. WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The funeral of Ex-Governor Lowe will take place on Wednesday, the remains being interred in Glenwood Cemetery. The Iowa State Association will attend the funeral in a

New York, December 26. - The Hudso from Rhinebeck to Poughkeepsie is filled solid with masses of floating ice. North of the latter city the river is practically closed. Trains on the roads along the river vere badly delayed by the snow.

Ben Butler's Movements. WASHINGTON, December 2 .- Gene dutler is expected to take possession of his gray house opposite the Capitol on the 7th of next month. He has a great deal of business to attend to here.

Got Ahead of the Lynchers DENVER, Col., Dec. 26.—The negro, "Big Ike," who, while attempting to burglarize the bank at Durango last week, shot dead Bruce Hunt, son of ex-Governor Hunt, has died in the jail at Durango from fajuries purposely inflicted on himself in jumping headlong from a forty-foot embankment to avoid being captured alive. Just before he died he made a confession, implicating four others. All are under arrest.

Railroad Smash.

ISLAND POND, Vt., Dec. 26.—At Summit Station, eleven miles west, the Grand Trunk Railroad has a crossing for freight and passenger trains. A freight running down the main line passed the station and was dashed into by a Montreal passenger train, smashing ten loaded cars and injur ing the baggagemaster, engineer and fireman of the passenger train.

THE present consumption of iron and steel is about equal to the output. Prices are not expected to go any lower.

THE Ohio canals have earned during the year a total of $155,016; expenses $220,035. It is claimed that had it not been for the floods there would have been a balance of $50,00.

THE story that Senator Thurman will become a candidate for the U.S. Senate was received in Washington with surprise and doubt. It is contended that if Thurman remains in Columbus it will be to see fair play toward Pendleton.

THE St. Louis grand jury failed to find any evidence or collusion on the part of the Governor and the gamblers, or of any concerted scheme by the Police Commissioners to use the police for illegal purposes. But they add that the indignation of the community over some of the appointments is not unreasonable, and recommend the organization of the Police Board on a different plan.

GEN. PRYOB received for his services in defending O'Donnell £3,000. A small unexpected balance of the fund goes to O'Donnell's deserted wife. There was a strong feeling in the American colonies in London and Paris adverse to the interference of the United States Government in the case. The absurdity of the claim of double nationality is declared to have never been more strikingly illustrated than in the appeal on behalf of O'Donnell.

THE labor agitation in England and France in reases. Forty thousand looms are idle in England, and the strike is likely to include all the mills. In Yorkshire the miners are demanding an increase of wages, and there will be a conference this week to arrange for a general strike of miners if their demands are not granted. In the North of France iron manufacturers are trying to reduce wages and strikes are occurring. Many furnaces have blown out.

MR. HORD WINN, of Washington, is the agent in this county for Mrs. Owens' Cook Book, one of the best books of the kind published. We have examined the book carefully and are able to say that it is a very useful work, and is a desirable addition to the household library, especially as the recipes given are on an economical basis, and call for nothing but what is conveniently at hand. A number of the recipes have been tried in the household of the writer, who takes pleasure in giving a warm approval to the book. It ought to have a large sale this county, and the people will fare in better by having it at hand.

The Legislature.

Ed. Bulletin: Permit me to announce to the people of Mason county through your paper, that I will leave on Friday morning, December 28th, for Frankfort in the discharge of my duties as their representative. My address will be Buhr's Hotel, where I will be glad to see every person from the county who chances to visit Frankfort. I will be glad to hear from every one having official busines at the capital. Yours truly, J. D. KEHOE.

Surviving a Severed Throat.

Scientific American. In 1877 Louis C. Londenski was crossing the mountains in Romania when his party was attacked by robbers. All had their throats cut, but Londenski had only his windpipe severed, his jugular vein being unharmed. As he showed signs of life he was hanged, yet the rope did not strangle him, as he still breathed through the sperture. After a time he was discovered and cut down, when he was removed to Vienna, when Professor Schraeder effected what is almost a cure. From Vienna he traveled around the world, exhibiting himself at different medical colleges. He is at present in Buffalo, N. Y., and Dr. S. H. Warren, after a careful examination, describes his wound as follows:

An incision was made across the throat from the inner side of both jugular veins, which extends to the carotid artery, severing the trachese, or bronchial tubes. Through the orifice can be see the vocal cords, larynx, and diverging tubes. Londenski, at his pleasure, can show the action of the glottis in respiration—something never before beheld by surgeons in a living subject."

The Tribune, in describing the case, states that he breathes through a tube three-eighths of an inch in diameter, which curves downward. He lives mainly on liquid food, being unable to digest gross food. He smokes considerably, having been advised to do so by Prof. Schraeder, exhaling the smoke through the hole in his neck, which is just below the Adam's apple, and in which is a tube that he closes when he wants to speak. The glottis, through disuse, has almost

French "Barn-Sterming" Troupe. [French Cor. Philadelphia Times.]

It was eight o'clock when I entered the house and already it was full, and so too were a good many of the men. A platform of four planks on trestles, with four oil lamps that gave forth more smoke than light, formed the stage. The female spectators were seated on improvised benches of planks and boxes, which bent under their weight. Behind them were, with one exception, the male spectators, some of them perched on the window-sills. The only orchestra was the sea wind that whistled through many an open space and the breaking of the waves on the golden sand along the beach. The exception I have alluded to was the Maire, who, by vir-tue of his official rank, had been given a seat in the front row among the hands ladies. The performance was composed of character dancing, acrobatic feats, sleight-of-hand tricks, all flavored with a good deal of horse-play and jokes so old that Shem, Ham and Japhet must have reserted to their use to while a weary hour away when out in the Ark. To the audience, however, all that the performers did had apparently the flavor of novelty. The married women and the young girls fairly shook from head to foot with laughter. Many of them were quite pretty, with that yellow-brown hair such as is only to be seen on the coast of Normandy, and those downy, tanned cheeks that leave a taste of the salt air on your lips after you have kissed them. More than ence did a whole row come to grief as a bench broke down under their excited movements. The laughter was contagious, and the men—fishermen, field laborers, stable boys and waiters, for most part-joined heartily in the shrill shrieks of the gentle sex. Science "Simplified."

[Dio Lewis' Monthly.]

If you prick a tree it keeps very still; no ery and no wincing. But if you prick a dog, it yelps and jumps. The tree has no nerves; the dog has nerves. This explains why the tree keeps so still, and why the dog makes so much fuss.

A nerve is a white thread running between two different parts of the body. Its business is to carry messages. You pinch the end of a dog's tail. There are white threads running from the ends of a dog's tail to his brain. "The message sent over these is the following: "TO HEADUQARTERS IN THE SKULL: There is an awful pinching here.

"TIPENDOFTAIL." When the message reaches the brain and is recorded and considered there, the brain sends back the following message:

"TIPENDOFTAIL Esq.:
"Jerk away from the pinch quick. "COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF,

"Headquarters." The tail is jerked away and everything is lovely again. It is not the same white thread which conveys the pinching message that brings back the jerking message. They look alike, but they are not alike. The one that carries the message from the end of the tail to the brain is called a nerve of feeling, and the white thread which brings back the message from the brain to the tail, commanding it to jerk, is called a nerve of motion.

Makes 'Em Respect a Man.

[Rockland Courier-Gazette.] "What's this Dead Scott decision about?" queried Mrs. Wigglesworth, looking up from the paper. "Dread Scott—not Dead Scott," corrected Mr. Wigglesworth, with a man's patronizing smile of superiority. "Well, Dread Scott, then. What is it?" Mr. Wig-glesworth was stuck, but he looked wise. 'Something to do with the Mexican war." he "Gen. Scott, you know, was a terrible fighter, and the Greasers got to refering to him as the Dread Scott. Some decision or other he made about a battle is what the papers mean." Mrs. Wigglesworth, with a satisfied air, folded the paper back and turned to see if any new people had been born, while Mr. Wigglesworth winked to himself at his having got out of it so smoothly. "All a woman needs," he mentally remarked, "is to have a thing explained one way or another. Don't matter what you tell 'em, so easier than having to answer a hundred questions. Makes 'em respect a man, too"

Floating Breakwaters. [San Francisco Chronicle.]

Floating breakwaters have been adopted in England with good results. The breakwater, or turnwater, consists of a line of buoys of triangular shape, with a sharp point towards the sea and two concave sides. The buoys are moored independent of each other by an anchor fore and aft and with a buoy's space between them. They draw ten feet of water and each wave as it meets them is cleft in two and diverted right and left towards the next buoy. The more violent the sea the more efficient the action of the buoys. It has been demonstrated that it is only the upper ten or fifteen feet of water that needs to be affected, for all below is calm.

An Alabama Wedding. [Inter Ocean.]

The bridal march was played by Will Cor-ley en an harmenica. The groom was at-tired in a hickery stripe shirt and copperascolored pants, and on his arm was gently sus-pended his bride, like a clear rib side of bacon or bushel of meal.

Thrown from a Horse.

SALT LAKE, Dec. 26 .- At Mill Creek, Edward Burch, fourteen years old, started on horseback from a party at Mill Creek to ride to this city for some whisky. An hour afterward his dead body was found at a bridge a few rods from where he started. It is thought the horse stumbled at the bridge and the boy was thrown to the ground with such force as to kill him instantly.

Death of a Centenarian.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 26. - Mrs. Jessie McGer died at Kappo, Woodford County, aged 101 years. She was a native of Ohio, and daughter of a member of Congress of that State. In her younger days she was a belle in society in the national Capital. She died indigent and in want.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatisms so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public.

E. F. HARRIS."
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general de-bility that I could not walk without help. Fol-lowing the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AVER'S FARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD." 620 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AVER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Ecsema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimu. lates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

Death of an Old Citizen.

Mrs. Mildred E. Robinson, reliet of the late Nimrod Robinson, died at her home just below this city on the morning of the 24th inst., about four o'clock. Mrs. Robinson was a daughter of Ignatius Mitchell, one of the early explorers and settlers of this county. She was born June 29, 1797, on the place where she died, which was selected by her father in 1776. Shortly after her birth she was christened by one of the first Catholic priests visiting this State. She was married three times, first to Mr. Forsythe, second to Mr. Vachael Masterson. By They hadn't gone and done it.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

ongressman Townshend's Views on That and Sundry Other Subjects. WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. - Congress

Townshend was discussing the prospects as to the place of holding the Democratic National Convention. "It seems to lie between St. Louis and Chicago," he said, "though there may be good reasons for Cincinnati's getting it. The Chicago people say they think they will get it, and of course, as an Illmois man, I am for Chicago. Then, too, I am for Morrsion for the nomination, and a convention in his own State, or in St. Louis, which is so near to his district, ought to be of some advantage to him."

Wouldn't Tilden, if he wanted a renomination, favor St. Louis? The holding of the convention in the same city and same hall where he was nominated before might give the 'old ticket' something of a sendoff, might it not?"

'Yes; and after Colonel Morrison, who is from my own State and my first choice, I should be glad to see the 'old ticket' reominated. I think the people generally ould. It would sweep the country, too. othing could beat it."

"Do you think that Tilden would accept a renomination?"

"He ought to. I see a good many statements, made by friends of his, or alleged friends, but none by himself. Of course he is quoted as saying that he is not course he is quoted as saying that he is not pacessarily a candidate, but that does not necessarily mean that he would refuse the place if ten-

THE OHIO BOOMING.

Fears of Another Disastrons Flood at ADSO Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, December 26.—The high water in the Ohio causes much uneasiness, and railroads are already serving notices of contingent delays in the delivery of freights. Mails are all much delayed and street traffic greatly impeded by the accumulation of slush and snow, particularly at the crossings. Reports from up the river and from all tributaries in the vicinity, are that a heavy volume of water is coming, and there are grave fears of a repetition of the scenes of February last. All possible precautions are being taken to protect life and property.

Five Persons Drowned. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 26.-A private letter received from Logan County gives particulars of a melancholy accident which occurred near Paris. A family named Gray, said to have been from Illinois, consisting of a man, his wife and child and two middle-aged ladles, were moving to Arkansas. They were in a covered wagon and attempted to cross a creek. The stream was swollen by the recent rains, and in the center the wagon was overturned. the center the wagon was overturned. There being no one at hand, the people were swept away and drowned.

The Glass Blowers' Troubles.

PITTSBURG, December 26.—It is not believed a conference between Campbell & Co., the glass manufacturers, and their workmen will take place. Campbell in a card admits that he did say he would favor and vote for a resumption of work, for wages of $5 and $7 a day guaranteed to single blowers, but to entitle the men to this guarantee the latter must guarantee to make fifty to fifty-five boxes per week. If they fail they are to be paid the regular wages list, less than the proposed reduction. It is thought the men will agree to this. TAT.

The Earthquakes in Portugal. LISBON, Dec. 26.—There were two earth-quakes on Saturday. The first was not generally noticed, but the second lasted twelve seconds, being accompanied by heavy rumblings, awaking the population, and causing a panic. Some damage was done old buildings and chimneys. At Setubal, eighteen miles southeast, the shock was so severe that many of the inhabitants rushed to the seashore.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.-Mr. Roger A Pryor has authorized a reporter to say that he had not, as rumored, received $15,000 fees out of the fund raised for O'Donnell's defence. He also said that his fees amounted to considerably less than that.

Irish Colonization for South America. Burnes Ayres, via Galveston, December 26.—Callan, a member of the British Parliament, is here. It is believed his object is to introduce Irish colonization into this country.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

SANTA BOSA, California, Feb. 9, 1883.

B. J. KENDALL & Co.,—Gents:—I teel it a duty to others suffering with the piles and failing of the rectum to write to you. I have had the piles and prolapsups of the rectum for five years, for the past three years I have suffered the most agonizing pain. I tried everything without reilef, but after ten day's use of Kendall's Spavin Cure. I have not seen or heard of the piles since. One who has not suffered as I have cannot comprehend the great joy that I felt at being cured of a disease almost worse than death. I had a valuable young horse that had a large bunch gather on his breast bone. I tried all kinds of liniments and had it ent open without any benefit. Saw your advertisement and bought a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and ordered my teamster to use as directed. In less than one week the lump had dissappeared. Thinking that a liniment that would do what Kendall's Spavin Cure has done for my horse might beneat more. I tried it as a last resort. With gratitude and best wishes for your success, I am faithfully yours,

Kendall's SPAVINCURE

VEVAY, IND., Aug. 12th, 1881.

DR. R. J. KENDALL & Co.—Gents: Sample of circulars received to-day. Please send me some with my imprint, printed on an one side only. The Kendall's Spavin Cure is in excellent demand with us, and not only for animals, but for human aliments also. Mr. Jos. Noris, one of the leading farmers in our county, sprained an ankle badly, and knowing the value of the remedy for horses, tried it on himself, and it did far better than he had expected. Cured the sprain in very short order.

What Dyspersia Does.

It causes grievous pains by day and frightful dreams by night.

It destroys the pleasure of a good dinner.
It sours the disposition and makes its victim cross and petulant.

It makes the breath bad, the eyes leaden, and the skin sallow.

It makes the appetite capricious and unreasonable. - causes constant grumbling and complaining.

What "Brown's Iron Bitters" Does. It invigorates the weakened stomach, and enables it to digest.

It promotes the enjoyment of a hearty meal. It enriches the blood, improves the liver, and cheers the mind.

It purifies the breath, clears the eyesight, and makes the skin natural. It brings a regular and healthy desire for food at proper times. Your DRUGGIST sells BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
